RUSSIAN FORCES LAUNCH GIGANTIC ATTACK

FRANCE, PROBABLY WILL PARTICIPATE IN GENERAL PEACE MEET WITH SOVIET

Her Interests Can Only be Safeguarded by Presence of Millerand.
AMERICA IS PROBING PROPAGANDA TRICKS
Advance Version of United States' Note Created Unfavorable Impression.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—France, probably, will participate in a general peace conference between the allies and Soviet Russia. It was declared today by officials in close touch with the French and British embassies.
Despite France's promised help to General Wrangel's government in South Russia it was pointed out that the interests of France and the de facto Russian regime could be safeguarded only by Premier Millerand taking a seat at the proposed general peace conference with the Bolsheviks.
The department of state has undertaken an investigation of the amazing and mysterious circulation throughout France of a false synopsis of the American note on the Polish situation, which became current at least three days prior to the publication of the note in the United States. According to the advance version the United States had given the Bolsheviks of Russia its moral support, starting a wave of anti-American comment, the effect of which, officials here fear, cannot be so easily removed.

BRITAIN FOR PEACE
LONDON, Aug. 13.—Great Britain is continuing friendly relations with the Russian Soviet government in an effort to prevent Europe from being engulfed in a new war, despite the decision of France to throw her military aid to the anti-Bolshevik government in Southern Russia. The Daily Express revealed today that the British government has advised Poland to accept the peace terms from the Russo-Polish peace parley opens at Minsk, presumably tomorrow.
Great Britain has told Poland it is impossible for her to declare war on Russia to obtain better terms than those which the Soviet government has intimated it will offer. Great Britain and France are split wide apart on Poland, according to all indications. France is advising Poland to continue the war against Russia and French army officers are said to be virtually in control of the Polish army. Premier Lloyd George, whose chief efforts are directed toward steering the British ship of state away from war is receiving the support of labor.

"The action of labor has kept Great Britain from the slippery slope of a new European conflict, but the danger has been renewed by the French government and the dollar making instincts of the American government," declared William Admondson, laborite member of the house of commons. He evidently referred to the American note which said the United States would not recognize the Soviet government.

THREATEN FRANCE
LONDON, August 13.—Robert Smillie, head of the federation of coal miners, announced today that the British miners would refuse to produce coal for France, if "France persists in her war like attitude toward Soviet Russia."

Wait Thirty Years For Their Vacation
(International News Service.)
HAVENHILL, Mass., Aug. 13.—John Hurn and Warren Cluff, local letter carriers, waited thirty years, but now they've got their vacation. The vacation was due them early in 1890. They've been trying to get it ever since. It was finally obtained by Congressman Lofkin. They are especially glad to get their vacation as it precedes their retirement and pensioning.

BRAVES HEAR PONZI, BUT HE WAS ONLY BUSTED, PONZI IS TOO, HE DECLARES

Can an Indian Be a Fish? The Stunt Committee Proves He Can.

KIWANIANS "TAKEN IN" BY VERY CLEVER STUNT

Story of Jailing of Real Wizard Fails to Dampen the Enthusiasm.

Most people believe members of committees are overworked and unappreciated, but local Kiwanis this morning are willing to bet that the members of the Kiwanian stunt committee, at least, have the pleasure of making the club the goat for their practical jokes.
Thursday morning Paul Morison and Frank Cook, two of the stunt-committeemen, arranged to have Charles Ponzi, Boston financial wizard, to appear before the Kiwanis club at its regular meeting last night and deliver an address. They arranged a rather plausible reason for his appearance, namely, an imagined visit to Mobile to speak to the Kiwanians there.
The mere fact of Ponzi's arrest in Boston Thursday failed to daunt their enthusiasm. They had implicit faith in the credulity of man and particularly of the Kiwanis club members. Negotiations were concluded with William E. Busted, representing the Curry Woodenware company, to impersonate Ponzi. He did. Ponzi admits he's busted too and the salesman made an excellent address. The Kiwanis appreciated it.
Busted went into all of the details of the Ponzi plan for making money. The local Braves' eyes were bulging and their mouths agape as the speaker checked off the various steps in the 400 per cent profit transactions.
"It is rather embarrassing to be out of jail and find a story in the afternoon paper that I am in jail," the salesman continued.
Kiwanians admitted it was embarrassing. Rather! But not nearly so embarrassing as it was to them when Frank Cook, one of the framers of the "stunt" arose and in the proverbial "few, but well chosen words," informed the Braves of the real identity of "Ponzi."

AMERICAN LEGION WILL HAVE FEAST THURSDAY, AUG 27
The American Legion post here will enjoy a feast on the night of Thursday, August 27, according to a decision reached at the regular bi-monthly meeting held last night in the rooms of the Albany chamber of commerce.
The following committee was appointed to arrange for a banquet or picnic: E. R. Guy, chairman, Arthur Widener, and Harold Carter. Several important features of business will be discussed at the meeting two weeks hence and a large attendance is anticipated.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR FREIGHT RATES
NEW SCHEDULE OF CHARGES WILL GO INTO EFFECT ON AUGUST 26
Plans have been completed here for collecting the increased freight rates, which go into effect on August 26. The increased rates were permitted by the interstate commerce commission to meet the raise in railroad workers wages.
The raise approximates 30 per cent in the nation, although it is slightly lower in the south than in other sections.

Accused of Death of Own Daughter

(International News Service)
HEBRON, Neb., Aug. 13.—Fred Bostelmann, a well-to-do farmer, is in jail here today charged with the murder of his 19 year old daughter, Frieda, because he objected to the man she was about to marry. It is alleged Bostelmann injected poison into the girl's body with a hypodermic needle. According to evidence against the father, he warned her against the approaching marriage to W. J. Butzke, a young school teacher.
"The day of young marriage to Butzke will be the day of your funeral," the father is said to have told the daughter.

Newspapers Aid Search For Boy

The newspapers of this state are being asked to help to locate Manning A. Trea, 17, missing from his home in Ithaca, N. Y., since June 6. He is said to be a boy of good habits and it is thought probably he was lured away by advertisements of big wages being paid boys. He is 5 feet 3 inches tall, dark, weighs about 135 pounds, plays clarinet and cornet well enough to take a position in a band or orchestra. His father, A. E. Trea, of Ithaca, N. Y., or his aunt, Mrs. A. T. Hoyt of Moravia, N. Y., will be grateful for any information concerning him.

Sandwich Men to Expose Profiteers

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—"Sandwich men" parading outside the doors of profiteers will be used in a protest against profiteering on retail sales of fruit, vegetables and fish by Dr. Robert Grimshaw, a special lecturer in New York University. They will be posted at the doors of dealers with placards giving fair prices of commodities for that day. He said he would obtain these fair prices from Washington Market.

Plot to Restore King Suspected

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The police expressed belief today that the two former Greek army officers, who attempted to assassinate Premier Venizelos, of Greece, last night, are involved in a plot to restore former King Constantine to the Greek throne. M. Venizelos was shot and wounded while waiting for a train. The two assailants were arrested and questioned, the greater part of the night.

PEANUT CROP NOW VERY IMPORTANT IN TENNESSEE VALLEY, PRECAUTION URGED

Chamber of Commerce Tells of Need for Care in Harvesting.

IMPORTANT FACTS ARE POINTED OUT FRIDAY

Cost of the Crop Can be Reduced Materially, Statement Says.

During the past few years the peanut crop in the Tennessee Valley section has increased and has reached the point where it is being considered a very profitable farm production.
C. P. McDaniel, Secretary-Manager of the Albany Chamber of Commerce issued a statement, in which he urges peanut growers to use much precaution in the harvesting of the crop this year. Mr. McDaniel's statement follows:

"With the present rather discouraging outlook for as high prices as last year being paid for peanuts this season, undoubtedly the tendency among many growers will be to give less care and attention to the harvesting and curing of the crop than they would otherwise. This, however, will be a grave mistake on the part of the grower, as there will unquestionably be a wider range of prices this year than usual between nuts of good sound quality and those of poor grade suitable only for oil purposes. A little extra care and expense at harvest may mean a considerable extra profit at marketing time. Business men as well as farmers should be interested in seeing that this crop is well taken care of, for in many sections the money secured from this crop will represent a profit or loss to business as well as to farming interests. Even with a lower price than was received for peanuts last year, growers will, if care is taken in harvesting and marketing, receive a profit from this crop that will be on a par with cotton or other staple crops."

The following important facts should be carefully considered:

That nuts, to bring the highest market price, must be well matured, bright and dry and contain as little dirt and trash as possible.
That in order to secure this condition a careful investigation of the field is necessary to see that the crop is as fully mature as possible, before digging.
Stack after digging as soon as dirt is sufficiently dry to shake off from the vines. A loss in weight of around 10 per cent will be incurred by leaving them exposed to the sun long enough for the stem connecting the pod to the vine to become dry, as this will stop the circulation of sap from the vine to the kernel, causing the kernel to shrivel, which if stacked green, would fill out. If the vines are stacked green around poles or across pieces high enough from the ground to give free circulation, the nuts to the center, bright nuts and hay of good quality will invariably be secured. They should not be picked from the vine until thoroughly cured and dry, remaining from four to six weeks in the stack. See that there is a reclaimer on the picking machine, and do not try to sell dirt and trash.
Reduce the cost of harvesting by using a total of some kind to dig with instead of pulling the vines. A common turning plow with the mold board or wing removed will do.
Use system in your work—put certain ones of the hands at stacking, others at bunching, and others at carrying to the stack.
Leaving the vines on the ground to cure will cause many kernels to shrivel that would otherwise fill out. The nuts will become discolored and the hay practically worthless.
Avoid stacking when vines are wet with dew or rain. If the cross pieces are too near the ground it means moldy nuts.
Treat the peanut crop as well as you do cotton and the other crops and it will pay you fully as well.

Eatables Prove Drinkables and Bell Now in Jail

Bolton Bell, negro, was added to the collection in the Morgan County jail this morning on a charge of carrying a jug containing four gallons of liquid beverage.

The beverage was of the usual moonshine type and is said to have been concealed in the back of the buggy in which the negro was peddling eatables.
Deputy McGuthrie got the tip that the negro had "spiritual intentions" and immediately asked for some of the vegetables. "Mac" picked his own vegetables and uncovered the jug. The negro protested that the liquor was placed there by someone else. However, the story didn't stick with the officer and the negro tried to impress the idea in a more forceful way and is alleged to have resisted arrest.

The bout didn't last long and Bell came out, the worse, with a mashed nose and an invitation to try the climate in the Twin Cities for awhile.

TENNESSEE SENATE RATIFIES WOMEN'S VOTE AMENDMENT

(International News Service.)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 13.—The senate of the Tennessee legislature today ratified the 19th amendment. If the house of representatives does, the same thing, the 35th state will have ratified the Federal amendment providing for no sex disqualification for voting and it will be an integral part of the law of the land.

The fate of woman's suffrage now lies in the hollow of the hands of 39 men, the members of the house of representatives, during the present general assembly. The senate victory was won after several anti-suffrage senators made attacks upon the women urging ratification. Senator Candler was the main anti-ratification orator. Speaker Todd rebuked him sharply for some of his statements. The house adjourned to Monday which will block ratification until that time. The senate vote was 25 ayes and 4 noes. Four of the members did not vote.

ANTIS WIN

(International News Service.)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., August 13.—Anti suffragists won their first victory in their battle to prevent the Tennessee legislature from ratifying the Federal suffrage amendment when they forced a decision from the house committee, which had the resolution in charge, not to report back the resolution until Monday night. The vote, which was a complete surprise to the suffrage floor leaders, came by a vote of 8 to 6. The senate committee, at the same time, by a vote of 8 to 2 decided to report ratification favorably as soon as the senate convened this morning.

(International News Service.)
WARSAW, Aug. 12.—via London, Aug. 13.—A violent battle, upon which the fate of Warsaw depends, is raging over a hundred mile front, northwest and north of this city. Terrific hand-to-hand fighting is in progress. The Poles are retreating along the left flank. A state of siege has been proclaimed in Warsaw. The Russians are reported to have captured Pultusk, 26 miles north of Warsaw. The Polish defenders of Mlava, on the Warsaw-Danzig railway, have surrendered without fighting.

Masses of Russian reinforcements were thrown into the engagement on the northern front in a desperate effort to break through. Two thousand fresh Polish cavalrymen are being rushed up to the front in an effort to stem the Red on-rush. The government is anxious over the situation but has announced it will remain in the capital until the last. All possible volunteers are being thrown into the battle by the Poles. They are being massed in the last lines of defense of the northwestern and northern fronts.

MURDER VERDICT FOUND BY JURORS

CORONER'S INQUEST OVER BODY OF ERNEST BUFORD COMES TO END

A verdict of murder was the report rendered by the coroner's jury on the mysterious death of Ernest Buford, which occurred Tuesday night on the Trinity road about two and a half miles from Albany-Decatur. The jurors also came to the conclusion that the body of Buford was moved by other men implicated in the affair. The body of the negro was found about thirty yards from the home of Richard Orr, negro, who is employed by Burns, a white man, and on whose place the killing is said to have occurred.
Willie Simpson, black, who is believed by officers to know something of the death of Buford and the shooting of Jim Eldridge cannot be located and it is thought that he has left town.
Eldridge could not found at the time of the inquest and it is also thought that he has left the county. Eldridge is said to have suffered a badly lacerated arm. The contents of the first barrel of the gun used in the killing is said to have hit Eldridge and the second shot is supposed to have fatally wounded Buford.
No arrests have yet been made in the affray and the officers are as yet puzzled over the case.

DEATH THREATENS CHARLES PONZI

FINANCIAL WIZARD RECEIVES "BLACK HAND" NOTE FROM AVOWED ENEMY

(International News Service.)
LEXINGTON, Mass., Aug. 13.—Charles Ponzi, whose money making system has collapsed, has been threatened with death, it became known at his home today. A "black hand" letter has been received by Ponzi and as a consequence, armed guards about his home here have been doubled.
The writer of the death threat boasted that he had pursued Ponzi all over the country for 12 years. Ever since the breaking of the get-rich bubble in Montreal, in which Ponzi admits he was involved, Ponzi admits he fears somebody else may be laying for him because of losses suffered in the closing of his Boston office.

Steve Sullivan Is Painfully Hurt

Steve, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Sullivan, while assisting Ben Drake, a local boy, yesterday with an automobile which had gone dead, suffered a serious though not dangerous accident. According to his father, young Sullivan, is resting quietly now at his home on Third Ave. West Albany. A number of long gashes were cut into the boy on different parts of his body. In some instances, Dr. Petty, the physician in charge, had to sew up places nine to ten inches long. It seems that young Sullivan was looking after the automobile in bad repair, which had been chained to an automobile being driven by Drake. As Sullivan sought to crank his machine, the front auto made a sudden start and dragged him down under the wheels of the machine in tow.

ALABAMA DETERMINED TO FEED HERSELF

Alabama is determined to feed herself. For years the cotton farmers of the state, planted their cotton, chopped it, picked it, hauled it to town, sold it—and then spent a large part of the proceeds for produce grown in other states. It wasn't because the Alabama soil would not grow the foodstuffs for man and beast that were imported from sister states. The Alabama soil will grow nearly every American plant. It was because the crop-diversification campaigns had not then been conducted, the farmers of Alabama were not awakened then to the advantages of "feeding themselves."

Now what a change we find. The Daily Wednesday afternoon published figures from the Alabama Markets Journal showing the acreage planted in farm products in the Tennessee valley. Cotton still is being grown. It always will. Cotton is the staple product of the South—but in addition to the cotton acreage, the Tennessee valley farmers now are growing corn, peanuts, velvet beans, hay, field peas, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, wheat and other foodstuffs. They are learning to "feed themselves."

Perhaps the most remarkable feature contained in the July report of the market's bureau, however, is a chart showing the relative acreages planted in different crops in Alabama this year. Food and feed crops for harvest total nearly three fifths of the entire acreage, crops for hogging, etc., total about one fifth. King Cotton's acreage in Alabama totals only slightly more than a fifth.

patronage of the United States, bids fair to become another political issue to be kicked about in the November elections. The Philippine Commission of Independence, in its current press bulletin, quotes certain Republican leaders opposing the granting of independence to the 10,500,000 inhabitants of the islands. The Democratic platform, on the other hand, the bulletin points out, declares in favor of granting immediate independence to the Philippines.

It is unfortunate for America's dependents in the Pacific that their future should become tied up in the political destiny of an American political party. Independence for the Philippines, primarily, is not a political question to be settled by a mere preponderance of ballots. It is great humanitarian principle, involving the attitude of the United States toward the weaker nations of the earth. Commercially, independence for the islands may not be best, but, certainly, from a purely moral viewpoint they should be set free if that is their desire.

AMERICAN LEGION EAGER TO HONOR DEAD SOLDIERS

Birmingham Post No. 1 of the American Legion, took prompt steps to correct an unfavorable impression created by the funeral of Ernest Holden, an American soldier, whose body was brought back to Birmingham and buried without military honors.

The Age-Herald did not criticize the Legion, but in commenting on the apparent neglect of a hero who died for his country, used the words attributed to the officiating minister in an interview. Among other questions, he was quoted as asking, "Where was the American Legion?"

A member of the executive committee of Post No. 1 states that Holden was not given a soldier's escort and a military funeral because of a "confusion of orders" and the fact that the firing squad which has served previously on such occasions belongs to the National Guard, and is now encamped at Anniston.

Far from showing no interest in the fate of their fallen comrades, the Legion maintains a committee expressly charged with making arrangements for the funerals of dead soldiers brought back home. Elsewhere in The Age-Herald of today an announcement from the local post is published, expressing regret for the circumstances attending Ernest Holden's interment. The post also appeals to relatives who expect the bodies of their soldier dead to be returned to them, as well as undertakers and local recruiting stations, to communicate with the legion's headquarters on the twenty-third floor of the Jefferson County Bank Building, telephone Main 9123, so that arrangements can be made when the bodies arrive.

With the proper co-operation, we may rest assured that the American Legion will do all in its power to pay fitting honor to the city's heroic dead.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

JUST IN PASSINGGILBERT WRONG?

"I notice that a man named Gilbert, who seems to write for a number of Southern papers," said J. T. Jones, of Decatur, "is handing it out that Governor Cox's speech was a disappointment to a number of his admirers. I do not know who Gilbert is, or what he knows about such matters, but it seems strange to me he should be getting such stuff into such Democratic papers as the Age-Herald claims to be."

GLASS BRAINY

"I suppose as brainy a man as I saw at the San Francisco convention," said T. M. Jones, "was Carter Glass, present Senator from Virginia and late Secretary of the Treasury, but he is certainly small in stature. I suppose you have heard the story going the rounds that once during the convention Mr. Glass wished to make a certain entrance at the convention but was barred by the negro porter. When Glass explained who he was, the negro said 'I can't help it Boss, if you be William J. Bryan, you can't get in here with out a pass.'"

"There was certainly no bossing done over the delegates at San Francisco, that I heard of, Tammy, nor any other set of Democrats, tried to control. Cox seemed to have been nominated by the wearing down process. I believe Mr. McAdoo made a mistake in generalship. He seemed to think by being indifferent to the nomination, was the best way to get it. But I believe the delegates were like most other people. They were not inclined to give a thing out to any one, who did not make an open bid for it, and appear anxious for the responsibility."

W. B. Edmundson returned this morning from New York, leaving here last Saturday. In speaking of the chances of the Democratic nominee for President he said of Mr. Cox: "From what I can learn by brushing elbows with the other fellow over the country, I consider the Democratic outlook very bright. Republicans with whom I talked concede Ohio and New York to Mr. Cox. The defeat of Reed and Gore in Oklahoma and Missouri opened the eyes of the country as to what is thought of the League of Nations."

Almost a Shadow, Afraid to Eat

"My son-in-law was so bad from stomach trouble that he was reduced to almost a shadow and was afraid to eat anything, as all food caused bloating of gas which pressed against his heart, worrying him very much. SPARKS CIRCUS TO SHOW HERE AUG. 27

The No. 1 Advertising Car, in charge of J. M. Randolph, arrived here this morning and his crew of 22 men immediately started to work putting up the flaring posters and bills that set forth the wonders innumerable of the big performance of the Sparks circus, coming here August 27. Another car and an additional crew of billers and agents will arrive one week from today to complete the advertising campaign.

The Sparks circus bears the reputation of being one of the oldest, largest and best and this year's program includes lions, tigers, leopards, jaguars and even camels vying as acrobats with human stars. It's going to be just on doggone thrill after another, from the opening act—two herds of performing elephants, each group being worked by lady trainers, to the great Matoken, who causes many gasps of wonderment in his front and backward slides for life from the loftiest point in the large tent, to the ground—a distance of 150 feet.

Are there clowns? "Well, I should say yes!" declared the advance representatives today. Forty of them and each and every one can produce more laughs in a minute than all the Mother-in-law jokes can in a century. They are as full of funny capers as Russia is of Bolsheviks and just to add good measure a score or more of high class acrobatic stars are interspersed throughout the entire performance.

MY KINGDOM

Down by a shining water well
I found a very little dell,
No higher than my head,
The heather and the gorse about
In summer bloom were coming out,
Some yellow and some red.

I called the little pool a sea;
The little hills were big to me;
For I am very small.
I made a boat, I made a town,
I searched the caverns up and down,
And named them one and all.

And all about was mine, I said,
The little sparrows overhead,
The little Minnows too.
This was the world and I was king;
For me the bees came by to sing,
For me the swallows flew.

I played there were no deeper seas,
Nor any wider plains than these,
Nor other kings than me.
At least I heard my mother call
Out from the house at eventide,
To call me home to tea.

And I must rise and leave my dell,
And leave my dimpled water well,
And leave my heather blooms.
Alas! and as my home I neared,
How great cool the rooms!

"BEN" FRANKLIN NOT FIRST

Contention Made That New Hampshire Had the Earliest Periodical in the United States.

I claim that the oldest periodical in the United States is the New Hampshire Gazette, published weekly at Portsmouth and founded in 1758, the next in age being the Weekly Mercury, published at Newport, R. I., and founded in 1758. "Benjamin Franklin did not found the Saturday Evening Post or any other paper in 1728. The Pennsylvania Gazette was founded in 1728 by Samuel Keltner, who did not make a financial success of it and sold it to Franklin. It was first called The Universal Instructor in All Arts and Sciences and Pennsylvania Gazette. In his autobiography Franklin says of Keltner and the Gazette: "He began his paper, however, and after carrying it on three-quarters of a year, with at most ninety subscribers, he offered it to me for a trifle; and I, having been ready for some time to go on with it, took it in hand directly; and it proved in a few years extremely profitable to me."

Samuel Atkinson and Charles Alexander combined the subscription lists of the Pennsylvania Gazette and the Bee and issued the first number of the Saturday Evening Post on August 4, 1821, and the Gazette and the Bee went out of existence forever. Thomas Cottrell Clarke was the first editor of the Post. All old newspaper directories give 1821 as the year the Post was established.

ROOK COMPLIMENT

TO MISS WHATLEY

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Whatley entertained delightfully at Rook for their house guest, Miss Mary Whatley.

For this occasion the reception suits were beautifully decorated with crepe myrtle, ferns and black eyed susans.

The guest list included: Misses Mary Whatley, Willie Feist Price, Mabel Eubanks, Imogen Winton, Ruth James, Lilly Mae Tidwell and Messrs. D. B. Whitson, Glen Harvey, Edwin Wiggins, Odas Jackson, Frank Imerson, Hubert Wiggins and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brannum.

Mrs. V. J. Heard and little daughter, Mary, of Clanton, Ala., are the expected guests of Judge and Mrs. O. Kyle.

PERSONAL

L. J. Speer has returned from Falkville, after several days' visit to relatives.

J. F. Day, of Como, Texas, is visiting relatives in Albany and Hartsville.

Stanley Green, formerly with Harris Motors Co., Decatur, now salesman for the Birmingham Motors Co., is spending a few days in this section.

Lester Reese, formerly with the L. & N. Shops, now of Fairfield, is spending the week-end with his family at their home on Sherman street.

Pete Crenshaw, president of the Chickasaw Candy Co., at Memphis, who was here yesterday. Mr. Crenshaw was a recent visitor to relatives at Athens, Ala.

CARD

After due consideration and at the solicitation of my many friends I have decided to enter the race for Mayor of Albany. I propose if elected to give to the city a clean cut administration, and to do this it will require the cooperation of a good force of Aldermen and all the people as well. I consider Friday, the 13th a lucky day and have decided to announce at this time. I wish to say to all my friends that I will appreciate their affluence and support.

Respectfully,
J. T. RAINEY.

Learn the Art of Life.

Life is so full of beautiful stories that it is inconceivable that there should be any need of fiction or any other form of art. Life itself is an art and requires artists to live it. There are few of these and that may account for written art.

People who can live on the plane of their agreements and avoid the plane of their antipathies make life an art. There was a cobbler friend of ours, poor, honest, witty, a philosopher and withal handsome. He had a wonderfully gifted, beautiful sister and she married a forceful "plute," who was devoted to her and whom she loved as truly as she loved her brother, the shoemaker. The shoemaker was a leader in a radical reform movement; the plute was the leader of the opposition. The shoemaker disdained any sort of financial help from his brother-in-law, but being an old bachelor, lived in the plute's house, sharing a happy family life. There was never a discordant word uttered, because these three tacitly avoided topics on which they did not agree. They knew the art of life.—Chicago News.

IN SAD PLIGHT, VIENNESE SMILE

CAPITAL OF AUSTRIA, TOO BIG FOR COUNTRY TO NOURISH, DOOMED, PREDICTION.

Written for International News Service and London Daily Mirror by a Special Correspondent.

VIENNA, Aug. 13.—The sad plight of Vienna has often been referred to by newspaper correspondents or explained in appeals for starving children or other sufferers.

There is little outward evidence of the tragedy. The stranger visiting the erstwhile gay and light-hearted capital on the Danube may even be lured into the belief that the facts have been grossly exaggerated. But the stranger's Vienna is not the Vienna of the Venese.

For the bulk of the population, and more particularly for the middle classes, the conditions of life have become impossible. There is no room for them between the millstones of profiteering and labor.

When they have eaten up their capital and sold their household goods they have to choose between slow starvation and voluntary death. There are scores of suicides every week.

The depreciation of Austrian currency value and the resulting rise in the cost of living have not brought about anything like a corresponding increase in earnings.

A brilliant scientist, a professor of astronomy, has to give lessons in languages and mathematics at private schools at the rate of five kroner an hour—a little over three cents in English money.

A small Government official would have to spend far more than a year's income to buy a ready-made lounge suit and about a month's income for a pair of cotton pajamas.

To keep the wolf from the door those who have the necessary business ability are forced to resort to illicit trading.

Not a single cigarette or cigar, not an ounce of tobacco is to be had at the numerous licensed tobacconists shops. But there is not a cafe or restaurant where you cannot buy at the smokes you require—by paying far more than the legally fixed prices.

Milk is absolutely unobtainable, except in very small quantities, for the use of children. And sugar is almost as scarce, although Austria is a sugar-producing country.

Her money having become worthless, she has to pay in kind for her purchases, and thus all her sugar goes abroad.

For the unfortunate Viennese there is no help and no escape. They cannot emigrate; they cannot even go to

He Was Short Three Ways, But Is Wedded

DETROIT, Aug. 13.—He was only about four feet high, the woman who accompanied him was even a little shorter, and his hat just topped the counter in the county building where the clerk hands out marriage licenses.

"I'm short," said the little man. "I see you are," replied Clerk Maloney.

"I didn't mean it that way," was the reply. "I mean my name is Short."

The little man then explained that he was John S. Short, thirty-five, a clown, and that he wanted a license to marry Helen L. Haskell, who is even shorter and is an acrobat with the same circus.

License in hand, the aspirants for matrimonial bliss went to a justice and asked him to perform the ceremony.

Justices usually get $5 for performing a wedding ceremony. Learning this Short said to the judge:

"I'm short."

"I see you are," replied the judge. "I don't mean it that way," replied the little man. "I mean I haven't enough money. I was afraid to carry much money for fear of hold-ups and I have just a dollar over what the license cost."

The judge agreed to tie the knot for a dollar, performing the ceremony, and the little couple went on their way to join the circus.

FACTS NOT GENERALLY KNOWN
The English language has 75,000 more words than French, German and Spanish combined.

Chinese consider beef cattle too valuable for agricultural purposes to be slaughtered for food.

Abyssinian women may divorce their husbands at pleasure, but the husband must show cause.

Puccini's musical talents were discovered by Queen Margherita of Italy who financed his musical education.

Certain solitary bees line their nests with discs cut from rose leaves.

their own country districts, as the local authorities of the Alpine provinces have set up barriers against them to save their own scant food supplies.

The Austria that has emerged from the disastrous war has neither coal nor cereals, nor sufficient food of any kind to nourish her own population. Her credit stands so low that she cannot buy from abroad.

She is surrounded on three sides by hostile races. All attempts to relieve her distress can only be temporary measures. A country of 6,000,000 inhabitants cannot nourish a capital of 2,000,000 inhabitants. And that is why Vienna is doomed.

The misery is indescribable even now. What will it be in the winter when the terror of frost and snow and ice is added to the constant threat of starvation?

The marvel is that the Viennese, proverbially easy-going and light-hearted, will rarely be found to grumble or whine. They carry on as best they can.

They laugh and joke about their troubles. And they face the end with a smile.

RUTH CAUSE OF BATTLE ON PASSES*INTENTIONAL WALK, LONG A THORN, AROUSES FANS; LA-BELLED BAD RULE.

By R. C. HAMILTON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The intentional pass rule in baseball in consuming the interest of fans all over the country—and, strangely enough, because Babe Ruth, a representative of New York, is the cause of most of the indignation.

The intentional pass thing has been a thorny stickler in the side of baseball for years and years. The fans never have liked it, and the players themselves, although taking advantage of it whenever it was thought necessary nevertheless, have often admitted that, at best, it was rather a shady piece of work.

Baseball is the only game in which a star player may be made impotent through distortion of the rules. There isn't another sport where an offensive weapon of great strength can be turned to nothing simply by refusing to admit the spirit of a rule.

Last winter the joint rules committee of the major leagues got together in a bold effort to do away with the intentional pass. The result was that a ruling was made which forbade a catcher stepping from his box before a pitch was delivered. It therefore became necessary only for the catcher to jump out of the box after the pitch was made. What a lot of rot that rule is! It doesn't even begin to correct the fault the rules committee sought to eliminate. And to a man on the sidelines it looks very much as if the rules committee knew it wouldn't work.

It is asking a lot of baseball to correct its playing code to benefit one personage. There probably won't be another Ruth around for a good many years, but arguments that include this statement do not take into account the Speakers, Jacksons, Cobbs, Hornsby, Wheatons and other luminaries who suffer constantly from violation of the intentional pass rule. Fandom has been roaring for years over the rule. The fact that Ruth is being walked time after time has added fuel to the flames. The fans know and so do the magnates that the baseball on balls was intended as a penalty for poor pitching. It never was and never could be construed otherwise, yet pitchers are daily using it to their advantage.

Consider the case of the Yankee. If no other argument is to be used against the walk. The two colonels who own this baseball club paid lot of money to get into their lineup this wonderful slugger. They not only believed he would be a whale of an attraction, but they also considered it probable he would be able to bat the team into a pennant. He has been passed so many times with runners on bases, or when a run might win a ball game without anyone on base that the fans have become disgusted with the proceedings.

The Yankees have hovered within shooting distance of first place all season long. There isn't a shadow of doubt in the minds of their followers that they would be resting on top today if Babe Ruth had been allowed to hit every time he walked to the plate. There are numerous baseball games in the lost column of the Yankees standing that might have been won with a lousy wallop. Ruth has been deliberately passed in many of these.

The joint rules committee certainly will have to take cognizance of the shortcomings of the code when it meets again next winter. They will have to make a change that will absolutely eradicate the intentional frank to first or face a roaring multitude of fans who will be crying for their blood. It really is a serious situation in the minds of the supporters of the game. Magnates themselves may feel that the intentional pass should remain, but if they are wise they will hearken to the rumbling before it is too late.

AMUSEMENT"THE ORPHAN" COMING WITH WILLIAM FARNUM
PRINCESS SATURDAY

William Farnum, in his latest William Fox production, "The Orphan," a powerful and thrilling story of the West, will be at Princess Theatre, today. In this picture, according to advance reports, Mrs. Farnum's role is one of the most forceful and magnetic he has yet enacted for the screen.

The story, written by Clarence E. Mulford and directed by J. Gordon Edwards, centers around The Orphan, an outlaw, who is hated and hunted persistently by the people of the little western town of Ford's Station, in the heart of the cowpunchers' country. When Sheriff Jim Shields goes out to capture the outlaw, he himself is made captive by the fugitive. After The Orphan has freed the Sheriff on condition that he help fight off an attack by Indians—in which the Sheriff is wounded—the outlaw dresses his companion's wounds and the pair part as friends. The Outlaw having won the other's admiration by his daring and courage.

Later, when the stage coach containing the Sheriff's pretty sister is attacked by Indians, the Orphan comes to the rescue. Through the confidence of his newly made friend the Sheriff, and the love of the girl, The Orphan makes his peace with the cowboys and starts life anew.

Louise Lovely, who has appeared in support of Mr. Farnum in many pictures, will be seen as the heroine.

Thirty four of the forty sultans who have ruled Turkey since the conquest of Constantinople have died violent deaths.

"I didn't rest well some nights. I would be just as tired when I got up in the morning as when I went to bed. I would get weak, and have kind of fainty spells—at times hardly able to do my housework.

"I heard of Ziron, and felt maybe a tonic would help me. I thought it would at least strengthen me.

"I believe Ziron has done me good. I feel better. I am glad to recommend it as a good tonic."

Low-Cost Mileage—Get It in Goodyear Small Car Tires

There is no economy in buying so-called bargains in tires offered at sensationally cheap prices when a well-made tire delivers mileage at a considerably lower rate of cost.

Add the time and trouble occasioned by frequent replacements and it is fully apparent why tire users, seeking real mileage economy, are not attracted to very cheaply priced tires.

The popularity of Goodyear Tires, of the 30 x 3 1/2, 30 x 3 3/4 and 31 x 4-inch sizes, is based on the fact that they are built to deliver exceptional mileage at low cost and consistently do so.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking these sizes, go to your nearest Service Station for Goodyear Tires—for true Goodyear mileage, value, economy.
